

Presentation of Book Reviews

Headers should be laid out as follows:

Excavations at Caldicot, Gwent: Bronze Age palaeochannels in the Lower Nedern Valley
(CBA Research Report 105)

NIGEL NAYLING and A. CASELDINE (eds)

177 pp., 79 figures

Council for British Archaeology, York YO1 2UA, UK, 2000, £32 (hbk or sbk), ISBN 1-872414-79-6

Our standard abbreviations in review headers are b&w, hbk (hardback), sbk (soft- or paperback), npg (no price given). Currencies: use appropriate sign (£ = £ sterling; $ = US dollar; A$ = Australian dollar; € = euro) before the number.

Abbreviations used within the text of the review include ch. + numeral (referring to chapters); p. + numeral (references to individual pages).

For general points of house style see main IJNA Notes for Contributors.

Please do not include unnecessary bibliographic references. If they are essential, they should be in brackets within the text, as concisely as possible (author, date, title, place of publication), and not at the end.

Reviewers retain copyright, but are asked to sign a form assigning an exclusive licence to the Nautical Archaeology Society via Blackwell Publishing. Forms will be sent out with the book, and should be returned with the review to the Reviews Editor. We ask for a one-line address or attribution after your name, to allow you to be identified for copyright purposes, e.g.

JEMIMA PUDDLEDUCK
Somerville College, Oxford
(add country unless city is capital city)

The copy of the book sent for review will be accompanied by a briefing sheet with the bibliographical details and instructions on how to submit the finished review to the Reviews Editor. The instructions include copy length and format, delivery date and address to which the review should be sent.

Text should be double-spaced and on one side of the A4 paper only, with the first line of each new paragraph indented. Please do not forget to include the signed Exclusive Licence Form. If possible a copy should also be emailed to the Editor (editor.ijna@gmail.com).

Reviewers are not normally sent proofs unless they specifically ask to see one, but the production process will not wait if proofs are not returned within the specified time.

Reviewers will receive one copy of the reviews section (electronically where possible).
